

	Interview Question	Explanation of Expectation & Notes	Potential Answers	Answer Example from a Completed Interview (for reference)	Potential Follow-up Question(s)
A	Have you heard about or known the Healthy Home programs/services to identify and reduce at-home environmental asthma triggers?	We are trying to see if the participant is aware of Healthy Home programs. Some additional context of what the programs are designed to do is given as some may not know a name for these services/programs.	Yes/no (binary; if/then)	see attached Word Document	NOTE: see Question B for follow-up; if no, the researcher/software should provide examples of healthy home programs/services to inquire if they have received them (examples of HHP/S: mold removal, leak/water damage repairs, AC filter replacement, pest control, no-smoking policies). After these answers are contrived with a 'yes,' refer to Question B as a follow-up. NOTE: for the scenario, the answer should reflect a 'yes' as the respondent would not be able to provide follow-up data with a 'no' response.
B	Tell us more about the services you know or your family received?	This prompt seeks to find out if the participant is aware of, has access to, and has utilized services for healthy home environments. The research is also seeking to identify if property managers/housing authority personnel are adhering to resident maintenance requests for healthy living spaces (mold removal, air filter changes, pest control).	Participants may list off different service providers, community organizations, or health workers. Some examples could be BreatheDC, a partner on our study who hosts asthma camps for asthmatic children, or pest control coming to their unit to perform extermination services.	see attached Word Document	Were the services provided by housing authorities, landlords, or property managers? // What services were provided and how were such services provided/delivered? Follow up with Question C.
C	Have you found such services helpful?	This is a quality check/program evaluation to see if the services that are being delivered are effective and meeting the intended goal.	Yes/no (binary; if/then)	see attached Word Document	If so, how (e.g., reduced indoor asthma triggers, provided remediation resources, etc)? // If not, what makes you feel that they have not been helpful?
D	Thoughts or opinions as to the ways the services are implemented or monitored?	The research is aiming to identify the quality of service delivery and implementation.	This open-ended question could have various answers as the question is innately subjective. The only follow-up that could be necessary here would be recommendations and critiques for improvement.	see attached Word Document	Do you have any recommendations to better the ways that the services are implemented or monitored?
E	How do you think such services were delivered to or received by the residents?	Service delivery works in partnership with resident reception. By asking this question, conflicts that cause disruptions or disturbances within client systems will be identified (i.e. services would be requested less often if the service was completed correctly and thoroughly & residents would feel less stressed/irritated about requesting services if they didn't have to request them so often since the job is never done thoroughly).	This open-ended question could have various answers as the question is innately subjective. The only follow-up that could be necessary here would be recommendations and critiques for improvement.	see attached Word Document	Do you have any recommendations to improve service delivery and reception to residents?
F	What services and resources can housing agencies, property managers, landlords, health providers, and community-based organizations provide to effectively reduce at-home asthma triggers?	We are aiming to identify any types of services and resources that all entities could deliver to reduce risks.	Participants may list off different service providers, community organizations, or health workers. Some examples could be BreatheDC, a partner on our study who hosts asthma camps for asthmatic children, or pest control coming to their unit to perform extermination services.	see attached Word Document
G	Have you ever heard of an Asthma Action Plan (AAP)? Have you had or do you have one for your child?	An AAP is a document that looks like a stop light - a visual of how to manage an asthmatic edipose at three levels of severity.	Yes/no (binary; if/then)	see attached Word Document

H	If yes, has the action plan been helpful in asthma management for your child(ren)? If you have or had an AAP, how easy or difficult was it to adhere to the plan? What types of support or resource can help caregivers, like yourself, adhere to the AAP?	Follow-up question of if the AAP has been helpful. It usually is well-received because it is upheld by DC school nurses for asthmatic episoded in the school environment.	This open-ended question could have various answers as the question is innately subjective. The only follow-up that could be necessary here would be recommendations and critiques for improvement.	see attached Word Document
I	What do you think of the process of establishing the Asthma Action Plan? If you do not have an action plan, do you see any needs? If so, what types of support or resources can be helpful in developing an AAP?	Looking to see the level of difficulty in developing an AAP for a child with asthma. Plus any resources that they believe could be helpful for the development process.	This open-ended question could have various answers as the question is innately subjective. The only follow-up that could be necessary here would be recommendations and critiques for improvement.	see attached Word Document
J	What do you want to learn more about regarding your child's asthma?	Asking if there is something that they want to inquire about their child's asthma.	This open-ended question could have various answers as the question is innately subjective. The only follow-up that could be necessary here would be recommendations and critiques for improvement.	see attached Word Document
K	What educational resources/programs can help your family to better understand and manage your child's asthma?	Asking if there is something that they want to inquire about their child's asthma.	This open-ended question could have various answers as the question is innately subjective. The only follow-up that could be necessary here would be recommendations and critiques for improvement.	see attached Word Document
L	What is the best channel to deliver such educational resources/programs?	Looking for the best format of delivering the educational resources/programs.	This open-ended question could have various answers as the question is innately subjective. The only follow-up that could be necessary here would be recommendations and critiques for improvement.	see attached Word Document
M	What are some barriers to using educational resources/programs, if you were given free access?	Assessing any barriers that may be in place that we might have failed to identify.	This open-ended question could have various answers as the question is innately subjective. The only follow-up that could be necessary here would be recommendations and critiques for improvement.	see attached Word Document
N	Housing agencies, property managers/landlords, health providers, and community-based organizations are encouraged to provide comprehensive, sustainable and equitable asthma care programs. Do you have any suggestions on how such efforts?	Opening the floor for suggestions.	This open-ended question could have various answers as the question is innately subjective. The only follow-up that could be necessary here would be recommendations and critiques for improvement.	see attached Word Document
